APPROACHING A CRISIS.

The Health Authorities of New York Will Brook no Interference With Their Rules.

The Naval Reserve and 69th Regiment Ordered to Hold Themselves in Readiness.

The Feeling at Fire Island and Neighborhood is Still Intensely Bitter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—All the trunk line roads will henceforth refuse to carry immigrants unless they have a clean bill of health from United States officials. This action is the result of a circular by F. W. Reilly, secretary of the Board of Health of the State of Illinois. This order was sent to L. P. Tanner, chairman of the trunk line commission. It states that no immigrants will be allowed to land or pass through Illinois unless they have certificates issued by the United States Marine Hospital Service. The certificate issued by Dr. Nidger in Baltimore is taken as a sample. It must state that the immigrant has been fumigated, his baggage disinfected, and that there is absolutely no danger of his having either cholera or smallpox. The expense of the detention of the immigrant, Secretary Reilly also orders, must be borne by the railway company. Chairman Tanner yesterday telegraphed Secretary Reilly asking whether it was sufficient if the immigrant had a certificate that his baggage had been fumigated and disinfected. Secretary Reilly replied that it would not be sufficient unless a physican of the United States Marine Hospital service certified thereto.

NEW YORK, Sep. 13.—The World this morning says: Commander Jacob W. Wiler of the first battalion of the of the naval reserve, acting on orders from Governor Flower, late last night issued orders for the battalion to assemble, fully equipped for service, at pier 36, North River, at 8.30 this evening. The men were all notified last night by the officers of the batteries to supply themselves with heavy underwear and two days' rations. Including officers, the New York battalion is over 300 strong, and these men armed with cutlasses, revolvers and rifles, on board tugs in Great South Bay and patrolling Fire Island beach, could keep off all intruders. The men are well disciplined and would prove as efficient as the national guards in controlling mobs.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—The Central Board of Health has censured the Mayor and city Council for dilatoriness displayed by them in putting the city in a safe sanitary condition, and ordered them to proceed with the work forthwith. Among the measures ordered to be adopted is the abolition of privy pits.

FIRE ISLAND, N.Y., Sept. 13.—The situation remains the same as last night, only a little quieter. The Cepheus remains anchored in the channel. The passengers are feeling very uncomfortable on account of the chilly wind blowing. The food being supplied to the passengers on the Cepheus is from the Surf hotel. Men from the mainland are still guarding the deck to prevent the landing of passengers. Seventy-five special police are expected from New York this morning, and it is understood another attempt will be made to land. The feeling continues very bitter. Governor Flower was on the dock this morning, and ordered the 69th regiment to protect the authorities in landing quarantined passengers at Fire Island. By 9.30 a.m. all the members of the regiment were notified, and assembled in the armory; they were then ordered to proceed at once to pier 36, North river, and embark for the scene of the trouble.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Acting under orders of Commander Jacob W. Miller, of the first battalion, naval reserve by direction of Governor Flower, over 50 per cent of the battalion reported for service this morning at Pier 36, North River. They will start for Fire Island on the iron steamboat Pegasus this morning, and carry two days' provisions. They are armed with Remington rifles, cutlasses and revolvers, besides four howitzers and four gatling guns, received from the navy yard. The men receive $2.50 per day when under orders. Jacob W. Miller, commander; George E. Kent, executive officer, John Vanderpool, surgeon; Herbert Satterbee, navigator and paymaster, J. G. Agar, are in charge. The 69th regiment joined the naval reserves at the dock and also went on board the Pegasus for transport to Fire Island. Two thousand rounds of ammunition are stored on board.

The usual Health Board daily bulletin stated this morning that there were no cases of cholera yet in the city.

COMMITTED FOR CONTEMPT.

An Insolent Boy Punished—Theft—Indian Woman Murdered, Etc.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 13—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Militia, Major-General Herbert and party came over from Vancouver this morning.

The cash box on the ferry boat was robbed on Monday afternoon. The purser left it in his cabin and discovered the theft an hour or two afterwards. The extent of the robbery is not known as yet.

In the police court this morning, H. Dominy was charged with having sent in a false alarm on the 31st August, at 1 a.m. The chief witness was a boy named Scott, who was with him at the time, and who become very insolent while in the box, and would not answer questions. The bench warned him many times, and as he did not improve committed him to the lock-up till the afternoon for contempt of court.

News was received to-day that Skookum Anne was murdered by an Indian on Saturday at North Bend. Coroner Clark, of Kamloops, is holding an investigation and inquest.

A brakeman named Albert was badly mutilated this morning at North Bend by falling off the train. Albert is not expected to live.

Captain Pittendrigh, coroner, returned from Yale, where he had been holding an inquest on a body found in the river with a big gash in the forehead. The conclusion of the jury was that it was the body of a young man who attempted to come down from the high reaches of the waters to the gulf in a canoe which he stole The body was quite nude, and marked from passing through the canyon. The verdict on the body was "Man found drowned."

The water commissioners and council promise lots of fun, the former having taken action in the Rowling injunction case, without first consulting the corporation, which it must always do. The council by a motion requested an explanation, and notified the city solicitors that the city would assume no responsibility, as thousands of dollars were involved in the same should damages be awarded Rowlings.

Horrible Death of a Kingston Farmer —Awkward Position of the Columbian.

Montreal's Volunteer Soldiers Will Give Their Naval Visitors a Cordial Welcome.

Canoeist's Close Call.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—On Sunday evening the war canoe Wanderer, mate of the illfated Minne-wa-wa, came to grief in the river at Price Island, which is not far from the Grand Trunk boating club wharf, where the canoes are kept. Happily no lives were lost on Sunday afternoon. The crew of the Wanderer took a trip to Laprairie, starting homeward before six o'clock. A squall drove the canoe on the rocks off Price Island, and now there is a hole in the Wanderer. Another concussion toppled the paddles into the water and the canoe rolled over, very much after the manner of the Minne-wa-wa on the fateful afternoon of July 20, and at the same time by the clock, a few minutes after 6. The water was not deep, but there was a struggle to gain foothold and elbow-room, and there was a wild effort to disintangle hands and feet from those of the other fellows. Also there was a welcome for a boat that put out from the shore to the rescue. The rocks were very sharp, and by the time the Wanderers landed, some of them were badly cut. One of the Wanderer's crew lost a gold watch and chain.

Death in Horrible Form.

KINGSTON, Sept. 13.—John Cullen, farmer, was the victim of a terrible accident a few days ago which resulted in his death. Mr. Cullen had returned from the fields after drawing in a load of grain, and was about to remove the wagon rack when the horses, a vicious team, became frightened and made off at a mad gallop. Mr. Cullen had the rack in his hands, and when the horses started he was at once entangled. He was thrown violently to the ground, a huge bolt entering his body near the spinal column. Another jerk of the rack, and several ribs and a quantity of flesh were literally torn from the unfortunate man. He was left on the ground, a terrible spectacle to see. He died from the effects of his wounds the following day. He leaves a wife and one grown up daughter.

A Ticklish Task.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—The work of releasing the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company's steamer Columbian from her precarious position in the Cedar Rapids is going on satisfactorily. The work has so far advanced that an attempt will be made in a day or two to haul her out of the rapids. The company expects to see the steamer in Montreal before the end of the present week. A barge with anchors and heavy tackle was sent up to the Columbian to-day and the work of hauling her off will commence as soon as these are put into position. Jackson, the well-known Indian of Caughnawaga and St. Dennis. Lacnine, will look after this part of the work.

Mr. Moylan on the Way.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—Mr. Moylan, Dominion inspector of penitentiaries, has left for British Columbia to inspect the penitentiary there.

The Dominion Government published a proclamation to-day extending the time of keeping vessels at quarantine at maritime ports from three to twenty days, or more, as the Minister of Agriculture may determine. This is to meet the United States regulations and to prevent immigrants from coming into Canada and crossing over to the United States by avoiding the latter's quarantine.

To Receive the Officers.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—A meeting of the officers of the various city regiments was held in the Victoria Rifles' armory last evening to complete arrangements for the reception to the officers of H.M.S. Magicienne and Tartar. Lieut.-Col. Houghton occupied the chair, and among other things settled it was decided to limit the invitation list to 5000, on account of limited space. The reception will be held on Thursday.

Heavy Canadian Receipts.

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—The following cable appears in this morning's Globe from London. There was a very dull trade at Islington cattle market to-day. Prices are falling off slightly for all varieties of stock. There were very heavy arrivals of Canadian stock in the stock markets, where they are fetching lower rates.

MISSIONARIES IN JAPAN.

According to Rev. Bartlett Clerical Gentlemen Fare Badly in the Mikado's Land.

Two Young Children Going to School are Slaughtered by an Escaped Panther.

Mrs. President Harrison Very Ill—The German Imperial Family Have a Daughter.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 13.—Rev. Mr. Bartlett, a young missionary sent to Japan by the American board of missions, created a sensation at the Congregational ministers' meeting to-day, by attacking Sir Edwin Arnold. Mr. Bartlett was relating his experience in Japan, and telling how great the impiety and general contempt for missionaries was among the Japanese, when one of his brother ministers interrupted him by asking, "Is this conduct towards the missionaries caused by the general impiety of the people?" The young missionary quickly answered, "It is caused by the conduct of certain travellers, notably Sir Edwin Arnold. His conduct while in Japan would certainly not be tolerated in America. It might pass in the gay courts of European kings and princes, and would be hardly suitable for the court of Louis the Fourteenth. These are the facts, and I am not speaking from mere rumor. I dislike to make these allusions to Sir Edwin, but they are true." Mr. Bartlett proceeded to say that missionaries in Japan are everywhere looked upon with contempt, and the English and American merchants are quite as inimical to the missionaries, fanning the flame daily. Mr. Bartlett also stated that the newspapers are filled with screeds attacking the missionaries, who, all over, have a hard time of it.

Killed by a Panther.

WARSAW, Minn., Sept. 13.—Kitty Yancy, aged 12, and her 10-year-old brother Herbert were killed by a panther in the woods near their home this morning. The children were on their way to school, three miles from their home. To reach the school they have to walk through a dense piece of woods. It is presumed that while going through the woods, accompanied by their dog, the dog discovered the panther and barked at it. This enraged the panther, and in the fight that ensued the dog was killed. Then the panther fell upon the frightened children and buried its teeth in the neck of the little girl, then killed the boy. Their bodies were not mutilated. Farmers went in search and killed the panther. It escaped from Barnum's circus in this vicinity a week ago.

The President's Wife Ill.

LOON LAKE, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Harrison's condition yesterday was critical. There is a slight improvement this morning. Dr. F. E. Doughty is on his way here from New York and will meet Drs. Gardner and Taudeau in consultation upon his arrival, after which a statement will be given to press.

Their First Daughter.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—At half-past one o'clock this morning the German Empress gave birth to a daughter, the first daughter born to the imperial couple. The child was born in the palace at Potsdam.

"SUSPECTS" RELEASED.

Shipping at Nanaimo—Improvement in Trade —Purchase of Light Plant.

NANAIMO, Sept. 13.—At the regular meeting of the city council last evening a by-law was introduced to borrow $40,000 for the purchase of the electric light works. According to the figures presented by a committee detailed to investigate the standing of the concern, the majority of the councillors deemed it their duty to support the by-law, which passed its first and second reading. No one voted against, although Ald. Ganner refrained from voting. The latter gentleman was heard to remark after the meeting adjourned, that if the works were put under the hammer they would not bring $30,000. He was assured by Mayor Haslam that if such an event was brought about that the affair would not be knocked down at any such price. It is generally believed that the by-law will receive the assent of the ratepayers.

The two suspects, Capt. Fouth and Mr. Lloyd, were liberated on Sunday night, after spending 14 days as guests of the city of Nanaimo. Both gentlemen must have spent the time in a plesant manner, as everything they required was obtained for them. Previous to being liberated they were given sulphur baths and every precaution taken by Dr. Praeger that they left in a healthy condition. The twain returned to Vancouver yesterday and before leaving intimated that legal proceedings would be taken against the health officers, providing counsel at Vancouver did not advise otherwise.

Last evening the members of St. Paul's church choir and friends met and practised for the Harvest Thanksgiving service of song, to be given in the church on the 27th of this month. The affair promises to be very interesting, and everything possible is being done to make it surpass all previous events. The event will be given during the afternoon of the day named.

The steamer Romulus arrived last night, and adds about 3000 tons to the already large amount of shipping in the harbor. Besides this steamer there are seven sailing vessels at Nanaimo, representing in all about 20,000 tons. There are about five vessels at Departure Bay, which will take away about 15,000 tons. No extra push is being made as yet at the mines, and in consequence there are still a large number of unemployed who are anxiously waiting to be put on. It is many months since such a promising state of the coal trade has existed, and everyone is confidently looking forward to bright prospects for the winter.

There are quite a number of the older residents of Nanaimo, who would like to visit Mount Benson, but at present they feel the exertion in reaching the summit would be too much for them. However, the road, which is being made by Mr Love will admit an easier task to many when completed and will enable them to ride within comparatively easy distance of the peak of the mountain. Excursions are of frequent occurrence to this point lately, and those who undertake the trip give a glowing account of the picturesque scenery from this point.

Business during the past week has shown a slight increase but still there is plenty of room for further improvement. The last pay of the company was the largest for many months past and the next pay will certainly be much larger. Where the money goes is the all absorbing topic, but no one seems able to answer the question.

TERMINAL CITY NEWS.

The Military Party Entertained — Heavy Municipal Improvement Proposed.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13.—W. Watts, of Watts & Trott, boat builders, was married in Toronto yesterday to Miss Lickie, of that city.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, General Herbert and staff, Mayor Cope and several aldermen were guests of D. Oppenheimer, president of the N. W. Tramway Company, to New Westminster to-day, where the artillery corps was inspected. Mr. Bowell and General Herbert leave for the east to-morrow.

Major Dupont had a conference with Mayor Cope to day, re the value of land between Westminster avenue and Burrard Inlet. Major Dupont will submit a proposition in writing, and the council will submit a by-law to raise money to open the avenue through to the water front. The estimated cost of the improvement is $45,000.

Pewis and Darrell, two seamen left ashore by the whaling steamer Nagasaki for insubordination, will sue E. Fader & Co. for $60 each.

The railway company's physician examined each of the passengers and certified that all were in good health, and the company had all their baggage and effects fumigated and placed in a car specially prepared for their conveyance

Beat the Mexican Troops.

El Passo, Tex., Sep. 12.—Two companies of Mexican troops left Juarez for the point in Sonora where the rebellious Indians have without loss to themselves, defeated the government forces, and now hold Gen. Rankel and his staff as hostages. About a year ago a woman saint arose at Tomasachic in the state of Sonora. During the winter a priest preached against her. This excited the people and he would have been killed had it not been for government interference. The Indians defied the troops and several were placed in jail. After this some thirty Indians formed a military organization and started on a pilgrimage to visit their saint, near Alamos in Sonora. They were met by a body of troops and in an encounter five troopers were killed, including Capt. Enrique. The pilgrims then proceeded to the Ranche Colora, but the saint not appearing they returned to Tomasachic. The election troubles occuring about this time, a political party was organized under the leadership of Cruz Chavese. Gen. Rankel with the eleventh battalion of infantry marched against the rebels, arriving at Tomasachic at the foot of the Sierra Madre the force was surprised by the Indians and several were killed. Gen. Ranjas being wounded and with his entire staff captured. The battalion was dispersed with heavy loss. Last Wednesday Capt. Martinez and 500 men left Chihuahua for the scene of hostilities, about 100 miles west. The rebels encountered the regulars killing Capt. Martinez and forty soldiers, while the rebels came out without the loss of a single man. It is feared that this is but the beginning and that the success of the Indians will encourage the dissatisfied elements of Mexico to a general uprising.

The Servia's Narrow Escape.

London, Sept. 12.—The steamship Servia, which sailed from New York on Sept. 3rd, reached Queenstown yesterday. Captain Dutton reported that, on September 6th, in longitude 55 west, the Servia collided with the American ship Undaunted. There was a heavy fog at the time, and the Servia was proceeding very slowly. The vessels came together with little force and neither was damaged. The passengers landed at Queenstown by the Servia report a narrow escape. The fog began on Sept. 5th. It was so dense a person could see hardly a half ship's length ahead. The speed of the Servia was immediately slackened. At 2 o'clock on the morning of the 6th, many of the passengers felt a slight shock, although about half the passengers aboard were not even aroused from their sleep. About 20 persons ran on deck and saw a big ship so near at hand that Captain Dutton was calling out to learn if she needed assistance. The Undaunted's captain said she had received no injuries, and proceeded. An examination of the Servia also showed that no damage had been done her.

Vain Voyaging.

New York, Sept. 12.—The steamship Cepheus returned from Fire Island at 10 o'clock last night along side the Stonington, whence she had started with passengers destined for Fire Island. The passengers were once more transferred to the Stonington after fifty miles of vain sea voyaging and fifty miles return.

Employed as a Bravo.

Vienna, Sept. 12.—Count Edmund Makomaski, has been arrested on the suspicion of having hired a man to kill his brother-in-law. Makomaski is a Russian subject, and was arrested at the instance of the St. Petersburg police. He was on bad terms with his brother-in-law, in consequence of financial transactions between them and, it is said, that brother-in-law, endorsed heavily for him and was pressing him for payment. The Count is accused of having threatened to dismiss his forester unless the latter would shoot the brother-in-law. The forester committed the murder; subsequently he charged Makomaski with being the instigator of the crime.

A Modern Miracle.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Lewis Nosek, and her 18 months' old baby, of St. Louis, have been visiting Mrs. Nosek's parents in Claveland, O., and yesterday were returning to their Western home. While the train was going at a speed of 40 miles an hour baby Nosek became fretful and suddenly leaped from its mother's arms and fell through the open window. His mother and other ladies in the car screamed with fright, the train was stopped and backed to the place where the baby lay, but instead of finding a mangled, lifeless body, the little one was found sitting on a pile of gravel near the track. He was uninjured except for a slight bruise on his forehead.

Fall of the Rupee.

London, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Calcutta to the Times says that there is a great dissatisfaction in India on account of the rumor that the government will take no steps to arrest the fall of the rupee. The newspapers discuss impossible proposals and say that the home government is probably to blame for the present critical condition of affairs. Memorials are pouring in from all parts of the country. Labouchere in London Truth has exposed the blundering of the government in this matter and urged them to rouse themselves and do something, now the public demand that some action be taken at once.

Largest in the World.

Cheated the Gallows.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 12.—Charles G. Price who was convicted on Saturday of murder in the second degree for killing P. J. Cunningham died yesterday in the county jail from morphine poisoning. The suicide left a letter to the sheriff, saying the drug had been passed into the cell by a friend a month ago, to be used with suicidal intent, in the event of conviction. The jury in Price's case brought in a verdict of guilty at 11 p.m., and two hours later Price swallowed the poison.

A Childless Home.

Smith and his wife have every luxury that money can buy, but there is one thing lacking to their happiness. Both are fond of children, but no little voices prattle, no little feet patter in their beautiful home. "I would give ten years of my life if I could have one healthy, living child of my own," Smith often says to himself. No woman can be the mother of healthy offspring unless she is herself in good health. If she suffers from female weakness, general debility, bearing-down pains, and functional derangements, her physical condition is such that she cannot hope to have healthy children. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sovereign and guaranteed remedy for all these ailments. See guarantee printed on bottle-wrapper. tu-th&wk

I AM A MAN

"I have been treated by doctors, who had long lists of so-called cured patients, but they could not reach my case, and hope had been murdered in me by fair promises, but on first application of your magical appliance, hope and confidence came flocking in stronger than the combined powers of the four winds. I knew then that you would cure me, and now that I am a man and well again, I cannot thank you sufficiently for the cure. So again I say, use my name as reference whenever you wish. You nor any one else cannot use words too strong to express my sentiments in favor of so wonderful a treatment as that given by you."

A USELESS INCUMBRANCE.

Honest John Carling as Minister of Agriculture Resembles a Bump on a Log.

Defective Quarantine—The Conservative Leadership—Immorality of Politics.

From our own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The improvement of the quarantine arrangements so as to prevent the importation of cholera into the Dominion is the subject of engrossing attention in the press here at this moment. It is right that they should be. The following report of the international conference of quarantine inspection as a result of its visit to Grosse Isle quarantine station yesterday will show this:—

"The commission, after summing up the existing conditions, considers the equipment of the station at present existing wholly inadequate to protect the territory depending upon it against the importation of cholera or other contagious diseases. The chief deficiencies of the station are: (1) No wharf adequate for the safe and speedy landing of passengers and their effects, and at which vessels may be disinfected; (2) No suitable disinfecting apparatus for either baggage, cargo or vessels; (3) No proper accommodation for the detention of suspects; (4) No adequate and safe water supply, either for washing, bathing, drinking or other necessary purposes; (5) on account of deficiencies existing at this station the commission considers that nothing short of total exclusion of emigrants and of their effects, and of vessels coming from infected ports, will furnish efficient protection against the introduction of cholera or other contagious diseases through this port; (6) the commission expresses its appreciation of the efforts of Dr. Montizambert, the superintendent, who in the past has done so much with the imperfect means at his command to keep smallpox and similar diseases from finding entrance through the port."

KNOWN TO BE DEFECTIVE.

Everybody knew that the Grosse Isle quarantine was defective. Why has not the superintendent, Dr. Montizambert, for years been pleading, imploring, yea praying with the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Carling, to have the matter remedied. But nothing was ever done. The wharfage accommodation was out of date, and wholly inadequate for the necessities of steamships drawing 20 and 25 feet of water. The disinfecting apparatus was behind the times, and the accommodation for the detention of immigrants was not at all what it should be. There was also a short supply of water. The only excuse for such negligence now given by the Minister of Agriculture is that the quarantine arrangements under ordinary circumstances are apt to be overlooked. That may be quite true as regards any little arrangements which could be effected at a short notice, but there ought to be the main appliances and the main avenues whereby the necessary disinfecting and other apparatus could be placed in order in a very short time. So that the excuse which is offered by the department is no excuse at all. The fact of the matter is Hon. John Carling has been too long at the head of this department. Honest John is an excellent fellow in a way—there is no better; but as an administrator of public affairs he is an utter failure. Had he consulted his own interests and those of the country he would have remained in the Senate, but the possibility now is that he will not get there again.

A FRIENDLY OPINION.

The Montreal Gazette of to-day says in regard to the matter: "There is, of course, no excuse to be offered for the neglect that exists. The Government must take the responsibility for whatever unnecessary inconvenience ships and their passengers are put to. It is to be pointed out, however, that this inconvenience to incomers does not affect the situation as regards the possibility of cholera infected persons entering the country. It will take longer to do the quarantine work; but every suspected ship can be detained as well at an inferior as at a well equipped station till such time as danger is over. The Government, too, is acting. The wharf cannot be enlarged in a day, nor even in a month. A steamer can be provided, however, for disembarking passengers and baggage, and such danger, inconvenience and expense as the captain of the Cremon was put to can be avoided in the future. An efficient modern steam disinfecting apparatus should be in position for use to-morrow if not to-day. Other scientific appliances are also being provided on board the steamer Druid. Where lumber is cheap accommodation can be quickly provided for any number of detained persons. The lack of water can be as quickly remedied, if the Department of Agriculture recognizes that the responsibility rests upon its shoulders for all the unnecessary inconvenience that may be caused and that the country will approve of every expenditure essential to the public safety and the convenience of the detained ships. Indeed, half of the deficiencies might have been, temporarily at least, remedied already had energetic action followed the first intimation that cholera had made its appearance in threatening form in Western European ports."

NO FEARS OF THE PLAGUE.

The prospects are that the cholera will be kept out of this country for this season, so that there are not much grounds for alarm. Already the disease has been practically suppressed in England, from where the chief danger to Canada would naturally come. In Hamburg the disease is lessening. It is also gratifying to see that the chief lines of sailing vessels to New York have refused to bring steerage passengers, thus lessening the probability of bringing the disease to this continent. At New York the disinfecting apparatus and everything of that kind is of the latest and most efficient character.

THE COMING PREMIER.

To-day the Tory press announces that Premier Abbott must resign on account of the statement made by him in the press regarding his mental condition, which showed that he was wholly unfit for official duty. Premier Abbott's appointment was only a compromise to suit the rebelling Tory element in Ontario, and perhaps one or two elsewhere, who refused to have Sir John Thompson to rule over them. It is now stated in the official organs that Sir John Thompson will succeed Sir John Abbott. At any rate they say he is the man who should do so, which means the same thing. The question is whether there are any among the organs or among the party who will rise up and speak otherwise? If there are let them speak now. My own opinion is that they will say nothing. If so it will be a crushing remark to tell them that while they were willing to prevent the ruination of the country through the appointment of a bad Premier when there was only a little over 20 of a majority, they would not dare to do so when there is in the vicinity of 70 of a majority. The English language contains a suitable word for people of this kind.

And still such men there are. There are those in British Columbia who would have fought against the elevation of Sir John Thompson to the premiership of the country a year ago, but who would not do so to-day. Why? Because he can succeed without them, and they would be denied their pap. There can be no other reason.

THE ONLY MAN AVAILABLE.

This much I say, not on account of the qualifications of Sir John Thompson, but in regard to the action of his Tory friends towards him. Does it not illustrate beyond the "shadow of a shade of doubt," as the elder Tupper would have said, that boodle controls the party? Those who imagine that principle has anything to do with the maintenance of the present Government in power must be dullards indeed. They can know but little how the elections are won.

Sam Hughes, Clarke Wallace and John Thompson are political bedfellows. Hon. John Haggart can draw in the bigger crowd of votes, with the aid of Mr. Van Horne and the public contractors. Space and time do not permit me to tell you how it is done. Read the evidence of the boodling contractors of all sorts before the parliamentary committees. That will instruct you in the mysteries of how to carry on elections. Sir Adolphe Caron, for instance, returned the other day from Chicotimi. He said he had a weak candidate in Belley, but he beat Savard, who was highly popular and respected by the people. Then what good is the popular voice? This is an open statement from the Postmaster-General that popular opinion has little to do with carrying elections. What has, let us for the sake of Canada never mention.

SLABTOWN.

Port Richard Docks.

SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—The Port Richard dry dock bids opened in Washington on Saturday were as follows: S. Rigby & Evans, $500,000, or $513,000 with granite piers; Bryan Barlow & Co., $419,463, or $508,285 with granite; Jas. Parke, 569,000; Foster & Hudson, $545,000; Bates & King, $514,900; J. P. Phillips, $475,190, with $2 per pile if piles are to be shod with iron, or $495,190 with granite; Nelson Bennett, $500,000; Charles H. Banker & Co., $509,000; San Francisco Bridge Company, $539,000; or $549,000 with granite. All the bidders are located on the Pacific coast.

THE TRIPOD.

According to the Babylonian Talmud, "Nine hundred and three are the kinds of death made in this world." Physiologists drop the nine hundred, declare that life stands on a tripod, and assert that we die by the lungs, the heart, or the brain.

The troubles that assail the majority of men and women in this age arise from the great nervous system. This wonderful nerve organization is a most complicated structure, and so marvelously arranged, that the slightest trouble in any one part at once affects the whole.

The brain is the great connecting link between the mind and the body; and all the organs of the body may be said to be the agents of the mind, inasmuch as the mind manifests itself through them all. It is therefore of the utmost importance that the great nerve system should be kept in perfect order and repair.

The sleepless, nervous, irritable, despondent and dyspeptic are suffering every day from terrible nerve troubles. These ailments, which at first appear hardly worthy of attention, lead straight on to paralysis and insanity when neglected. Hundreds of men and women in our public and private insane asylums are the victims of nervous troubles, which might have been cured, had early attention and proper care been given to them.

To-day, the victims of nerve troubles have a sure and unfailing cure in Paine's Celery Compound, which is known to the medical faculty as a great "nerve food." This heaven-given preparation possesses the necessary virtues and powers to snatch the nervous from the perils which surround them. It is a cure for sleeplessness, irritability and despondency—troubles that are as common in our country as toothache. There is little hope for the nervous individual if the ordinary medicines of the day are used, as they cannot reach the nerve centres. Paine's Celery Compound alone is fitted for the great work; thousands have used it, and none have been disappointed with the results obtained.

Nervous and broken-down mortal, we counsel you to try the remedy that never fails, if you value life and wish to be strong and happy.

Nellie McHenry's Advent.

The large audience at the Victoria theatre last evening enjoyed itself thoroughly, if hearty laughter and applause are to be taken as indications of enjoyment. The piece, "A Night at the Circus," is full of funny parts, and those who support the several parts do so with rare skill. Miss McHenry was seen and heard to the best advantage and made a lasting impression on her audience. She is one of the best comic actresses on the American stage, and has achieved an enviable reputation as a fun maker. She and her clever company deserve liberal patronage, and the Victoria should be packed this evening to see one of the best comic plays ever put on here.

DISHONEST AND ILLOGICAL.

The Colonist has lately had an unusually bad spell of disingenuousness, a disorder from which it suffers more or less at all times. Its dishonest attack on the TIMES yesterday was a severe symptom, and its treatment of Mayor Beaven in connection with Ald. Humber's motion and his own proposition at the last council meeting was another. Why should a journal which lays claim to the possession of superior virtue be so eager to place a public man in a false position, even though he is an opponent in politics? Colonist readers unacquainted with the facts would naturally suppose from the paper's article on Sunday that the Mayor in dealing with Ald. Humber's resolution was actuated solely by hostility to the Provincial Government. This a complete distortion of the facts. Mayor Beaven pointed out to the council how unfair it would be to ask the Provincial Government to advance or loan money to the city when it had no power to do so, and when the council was precluded from borrowing money for board of health purposes. The motion was in effect that the council should ask the Government for such a loan, with intent to apply it to the recent smallpox indebtedness, and to furnish funds for cholera precautions, if necessary. The Mayor's argument was as follows:

"Alderman Humber's motion, if passed by the council, could have no practical effect, and would not be acting fairly with the Government. The least thought should convince anyone that a Government cannot grant provincial funds to a municipality without first obtaining the sanction of the Legislature. Neither can a Government make a loan to a municipality. In this instance the city council is precluded by the recent vote of the ratepayers from borrowing the money, even if the Government were in a position to make the city a loan for Board of Health purposes. The Legislature will not meet again this year, so the Government cannot ask that body to sanction a grant. The bills contracted by the Board of Health must be paid before the end of December, and no doubt this will be done. Under the terms of the British North America Act the Dominion Government are charged with all matters in connection with quarantine. The city has been employing persons to perform quarantine duties for several months, the expense so contracted they should be called upon to pay. The late provincial health officer, Dr. J. C. Davie, has expressed the opinion frequently that the smallpox was introduced here through defective quarantine regulations. The council should hold the Dominion Government responsible, and urge upon them to take such steps as will prevent the introduction of smallpox and cholera. To put the matter briefly the Provincial Government cannot at this time grant or loan money to the city, neither could the city accept a loan from the Government to pay Board of Health accounts.

No honest man could infer from this that the Mayor was actuated by hostility to the Provincial Government when he criticised the motion. As to Mr. Beaven's own proposition, that the Council urge upon the Dominion Government the strict enforcement of quarantine and the reimbursement of the city for the expenditure occasioned by the introduction of smallpox here, the TIMES has already had a word to say. No person can successfully dispute the correctness of such a claim as is embodied in the Mayor's resolution. The inconvenience and loss suffered by Victoria and Vancouver were directly due to the Dominion Government's laxity in quarantine matters, and both cities should therefore be recouped by that Government. The Colonist charges the Mayor with a want of common sense in supposing that the Ottawa Government would do its duty in this matter, and then, with peculiarly Colonistic gaucherie affirms that the Provincial Government has already taken the very same action as the Mayor proposes. If that is the case, what does the Colonist think of the local Government's common sense? Our neighbor is not logical, but if it puts forth its best powers of reflection it may come to realize that its labored effort to belittle Mayor Beaven is in fact a severe arraignment of the two Governments which it so slavishly supports. It is particularly hard on the Dominion Government when it declares that there is no hope whatever of inducing it to do what is right and just. It will also find that its effort to falsify the position of a political opponent will do neither itself nor its masters any good, for the public will rightly judge that so mean a line of tactics is a pretty correct gauge of the ability of the parish politicians who for the time constitute the Government of this Province.

THE QUARANTINE.

Eastern papers are freely discussing the danger of a cholera invasion and in connection therewith the inadequacy of the Dominion quarantine service. It has been established beyond the possibility of doubt that the Grosse Isle station is very far behind requirements; that fact was well enough known even before the visit of the health officers from the States called attention to it anew. None of the Government organs venture to dispute the accuracy of the criticisms that have been passed upon the condition of the station, though they contend that the Government is now doing its best to make up the deficiencies. The Empire is particularly energetic in making this claim on behalf of its Ottawa masters, but the Montreal Gazette does not refrain from a little criticism, saying: "Indeed, half of the deficiencies might have been, temporarily at least, remedied already had energetic action followed the first intimation that cholera had made its appearance in threatening form in Western European ports." It would have been rather remarkable if the Department of Agriculture had awakened to the necessity of energetic action so easily as the Gazette suggests. There seems to be good reason to hope that whether or not the Government does its whole duty by the Grosse Isle station the cholera will not invade Canada from the eastern side this season. The greatest danger on that side is its presence at New York, where it may possibly slip past the vigilant watch set upon it. But it is by no means certain that the plague will not travel across the Pacific, and if it is so necessary to improve the quarantine facilities at Grosse Isle there is at least an equal necessity of doing something for the Albert Head station, which is in an even worse condition to combat an invasion. All the criticisms passed upon the eastern station would apply with almost double force to that which guards the western entrance. The ease with which the smallpox slipped past Albert Head is not at all reassuring when cholera is thought of. And apart from all possible danger of an introduction of the worse plague, it is high time some further measures were taken to keep out the smallpox, which may otherwise come in upon us at no long intervals. There were reports some time ago of the intention of the Government to build a wharf at Albert Head and to furnish modern disinfecting apparatus, but there seems to be a poor prospect of this intention being fulfilled. The furnishing of one small di-oxide blast machine is all that has so far been accomplished. This want of energy in regard to quarantine matters is quite charactistic of the Department of Agriculture, with the fossil Carling at its head. So long as he has the management of affairs nothing better need be expected. It was surely not worth while for the Conservatives to steal the London seat in order that it might be given to so useless a tool of a minister as this antiquated politician has proved himself to be.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The extensive failures of building and banking associations in London are only too sure an indication that the financial wave which overwhelmed the Baring Bros. has not run its course. It is likely that the lack of confidence engendered by the former semi-panic and the uncertainty as to the status of silver money is the chief factor in the present disturbance. The situation is insecure enough to call for very careful handling, so that the highest skill of Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues will be called forth. The finding of a remedy for India's silver depreciation and consequent disturbance of values and exchange is by no means a small task.

According to figures given in the Minneapolis Miller, the wheat surplus of all the wheat-exporting countries will this year be 331,000,000 bushels, and the demands of the importing countries will amount to 329,000,000 bushels. Of the purchasing countries, Great Britain will take 155,000,000 bushels, leaving 174,000,000 to go to the other consumers. The nearest sources of supply for Great Britain are Canada and the States, the former being ready to furnish 25,000,000 and the latter 145,000,000 bushels. The most careless observer will see from this how dependent Great Britain is on the United States supply, and yet some wise people expect her to put a discriminatory duty on this supply in order to encourage colonial grain. Perhaps she will.

The Ainsworth News, returning to the question of the mining laws, puts this case:—"Let miners consider what is declared to have been done in the Slocan country, and let them ask themselves whether it might not occur to many of the best properties in the country. A, let us say, stakes a 'wild cat' on the 1st of June, which he records on the 5th and vaguely describes as on a certain hillside at a certain distance from a certain creek. B comes along and a mile or so away, finds a rich ledge, which he stakes, we will say on the 10 of June, and records. A hears of this and goes to work to cut down his stakes, and choosing a well hidden place on B's ground, puts up others with the same inscription on them as on his first stakes. He then goes away and leaves them to dry out a little. In a week or two he comes back and clears B off the ground. What remedy has B? The stakes are there, the record is there, 10 days older than his own. What chance has he of ever being able to prove the fraud? A claim is defined by two isolated stakes, connected by an imaginary line. The stakes are the claim; remove them and place them elsewhere and the claim goes with them." The News is of opinion that "a line blazed between the stakes, the necessity of a discovery post on the lead, any one of the simple precautions which long experience has taught the United States to adopt in their mining law would have sufficed to close this particular door to fraud. But the door is open now and any miner is liable to have his discovery taken from him by fraud."

Our local contemporary somewhat angrily resents an attack made on the Canadian Provincial Legislatures made by some anonymous writer in the London Times. It thus comments on the letter:

A more glaring misrepresentation than this could not be written. Canadians prize their local legislatures very highly. A proposition to govern the provinces from Ottawa would be scouted from one end of the Dominion to the other. Its advocates would not get a hearing in any town or district in any of the provinces. The people want to have the management of their own affairs, and they are indignant when what they consider an encroachment on the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces, is attempted or threatened by the Dominion Government. * * * And, notwithstanding the grumbling of the discontented and the faultfinding of the men in the opposition, the people of Canada believe that the affairs of the different provinces are, on the whole, honestly and ably administered. They would also, we are quite sure, rather see the Confederation dissolved than give up the rights guaranteed to the different provinces by the constitution.

Now this gracious boon of local self-government is precisely what Mr. Gladstone proposes to give Ireland, and if the Colonist regards it as so good a thing for Canada, why should it not be equally beneficial to the Old Country?

The New Deal.

The News is dead, but Davie lives
Within the Col'nist's bosom,
And each the other now forgives—
Was ever tale so gruesome?

The News a mission had to fill
Though one not really needed;
The tune it played was Davie's will,
His will the law it heeded.

Now that the News has gone to rest,
It's board without a quorum,
Our Premier's crowding Ellis's nest
To be high cock-o-lorum.

Now cats and mice are better friends
Apart than with each other,
So Davie's cat, to gain its ends,
The Col'nist will smother.

The Col'nist has indeed the field,
With Davie as curator;
But Lawson now his pen will wield
To suit the arch-dictator.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Special precautions should be taken when kindling fires in the fields or forests just now. Vegetation is very dry, the long drought of summer has caused the grass, weeds, bushes and trees to be very inflammable, and a great deal of waste is often occasioned through the reckless lighting of fires. Picnic parties and campers-out are the most careless in this regard. Indians are often chargeable, and rightly so, with reckless regard to life and property in this matter. Upon the prairie lands of Manitoba and the Northwest, a spark from an engine will often cause destruction of thousands of dollars value of stacked and nearly ripened wheat and often human life is sacrificed. The moister climate and less inflammable forests of British Columbia minimise the danger in this province, yet warning cannot be too often repeated to persons addicted to lighting fires in the open. The clouds and smoke of yesterday and to-day hanging over the city were as much due to the proximity of forest fires as to the heavy mists of the evening and to the dews of the morning.

I mentioned the other day how badly the Education Department managed its text books. Many books were adopted by one teacher, rejected by another, and permissive by a third. If Dr. Pope, after consultation with the experts in education and the teachers generally, decides upon any text book, it should be made universally compulsory. The teachers of the province should, however, be consulted in the matter, as they have practical experience of the books used. This could easily be done once a year at the examinations. Just now some of the teachers are compelling their pupils to purchase Meiklejohn's grammar and others retain Smith's, to the evident confusion and difficulty of the pupils as they pass from class to class. Besides, expense to the parents of frequent changes should be considered. QUIZ.

THE RUSSIANS OPEN FIRE.

Two Cannon Shot Sent After the Sealing Schooner Agnes McDonald While Escaping.

The Vancouver Belle Seized by the Muscovites and Other Schooners Robbed.

The report of further seizures of sealing schooners in the vicinity of Copper Island by the Russians was confirmed this morning by the arrival of the schooner Agnes McDonald. She saw the schooner Vancouver Bell seized and her master, Capt. Cutler, says that he is certain that other boats were taken.

The tug Sadie dropped the McDonald in James Bay this merning at 10:30. The greyhound schooner came across from Copper Island in several hours less than 18 days, time that compares favorably with that of the steamers crossing the Pacific. A TIMES man was aboard ten minutes after the schooner was at anchor. Here is what Captain Cutler said:

August 13th. When between 20 and 30 miles south of Copper Island with the wind south and all appearances of a fine day, I put out boats. The American schooner Kate and Ann stood 15 miles further south. At noon the schooner Vancouver Belle came along close to us and put her boats out a mile to leeward. At 3 p.m. I saw smoke, and not wanting to speak the Russians, even if we were well outside of the limits, I called our boats on board. Before we got all our boats, the Russian warship fired two shots at the Belle. I picked up my last boat and a good breeze sprang up, and I soon got her hull down. I saw two schooners going towards the warship and hoisted a signal flag. They both turned back. At 6 p.m. I spoke the Mary Ellen and Walter Earle. I told them what I had seen, but they did not know what they were doing with the Belle. The next morning spoke the Henry Dennis, Captain Minor, and told him what had happened. On the 16th I again met Captain Minor, and as the weather was bad for sealing we were having a talk, when we saw a schooner running down for us. This proved to be the Kate and Ann, Capt. Leitzens. He came on board and said I was lucky to get clear, as they had seized the Belle and five other Victoria schooners, and two American, and had taken 120 skins from him. I asked what limit did they want, for I knew we were all well outside of 16 miles. He said the Russian captain told him that they would take us anywhere. So I thought I wasn't safe till I was in Victoria. We stayed well off in company with the Dennis, found seals scarce and the weather getting bad. I decided to put for home, and left on August 26th. The Henry Dennis and Kate and Ann wish to be reported all well. The Dennis is going to Sand Point before she goes home to Seattle. I spoke the Walter L. Rich on Aug. 24. All were well on board, and she had 220 skins. The Mary Ellen left for home on August 31, five days before we did."

"I will never forget the day we ran away from the Russian. When she first came in sight all our boats were out, and I immediately began picking them up. The Belle was not half a mile away and to the leeward of us. I set all sails and a good breeze came up just in the nick of time. The Agnes ran faster than ever before. The Russian was not three miles from us when she fired her two shots. I think one was for us, but we never stopped. They got the Belle sure enough, and the other schooners, too. What the captain of the Kate and Ann says further satisfies me. They will take all they get a chance at. We took eighty skins after the Russian chased us. I would not want anything better than to be let hunt 30 miles from Copper Island. We have a total of about 1000 skins and could have done better, but I am glad to have saved the schooner. I warned all the vessels I could."

"The second night before we left a big steamer passed us, evidently bound for Petropaulovsky. She saw us, for she changed her course to get by, but did not in any way seek to speak us. I was asleep, but the watch on deck saw her plainly as she went by close up."

THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell Given a Pleasant Surprise Last Night.

Yesterday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell. It was their silver wedding and they will look back upon it year by year as one of the happiest days of their lives. Their friends heard of the anniversary only yesterday afternoon, but not too late to plan a surprise. Several pretty silver presents were purchased by different friends, and at 8 o'clock, 40 strong, armed with baskets and bundles full of good things, the house, which is on Third street, in the Work estate, was besieged. The couple were found surrounded by all their family except the eldest daughter, who was out visiting, and it was a genuine surprise. The presentation speech, when the different gifts were given, was made by Mr. Noah Shakespeare, who struck a very happy vein. The evening was most pleasantly spent. Mr. McConnell is the leader of the choir in the Centennial Methodist church, and also in the Sabbath school, and he and his wife are beloved by all in the church.

TO HIS LONG HOME.

The Aged Chief of the Songhees Laid to Rest in the Grave.

Chief Jim, of the Songhees Indians, was buried this morning. The funeral cortege consisted of forty carriages and was headed by Finn's fine brass band. The remains were taken to St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral, where solemn requiem mass was celebratedb y Bishop Lemmens, assisted by Rev. Father Van Nevel. The interment took place at Ross Bay cemetery. Father Van Nevel conducted the service at the grave. A large number of Indians attended the funeral, and when the casket, containing the body of their aged and honored chief, was lowered into the grave many of the Indians were in tears. It was a strange and affecting scene.

Unlicensed Chinese Pedlers.

The police are keeping a sharp lookout for Chinese vendors of market garden produce who have no licenses. A number of Chinamen are selling vegetables without a license.

New Poles.

The telephone company are erecting new poles on the principal streets of the city. The new poles are much taller than the old ones and are painted white, giving them quite a respectable appearance.

Deny the Statement.

The young men, C. E. King and W. E. Elles, who are said to have beaten a Chinaman near Cedar Hill, emphatically deny the allegation and say they had nothing whatever to do with the Chinaman's injuries.

Sad News.

A dispatch was received last evening by Mr. J. Dwyer from Portland, stating that Eddie Dillon, son of Mr. Charles Dillon, formerly of this city, had been drowned several days ago. The deceased was well known in Victoria.

A Treat in Store.

The Young Ladies' Institute social tomorrow night promises to be a well attended affair. The various committees have worked hard to perfect all arrangements and should be rewarded. Good music for the dancing has been provided.

Will Drill in Public.

The members of the Uniform Rank, K. o P., who are to take part in the competition at New Westminster next week will give an exhibition in the Market Hall on Saturday evening. They drill for two hours every evening, a band will be present on Saturday evening.

Another Shipment to Chicago.

Quite a large shipment of articles for the Indian exhibit at the World's Fair was made yesterday to Chicago by James Deans. They include the small houses for the miniature Indian village, two canoes, and several other things. They will be packed at Vancouver with the large log house sent up some time ago, and will make about four carloads.

A General Clean Up.

A meeting of the sanitary committee was held last evening, Dr. Watt and Sanitary Officer Bailey being present. Dr. Watt spoke of the necessity of having the back yards, alleys and streets of the city thoroughly clean. An inspection should be made and a proclamation requiring the citizens to keep their yards clean should be published. The Chinese merchants of the city had promised him that they would post up orders to have the alleys of Chinatown cleaned up.

Directors Meeting.

The board of directors of the B.C. Agricultural Society met last evening to deal with business in connection with the fall exhibition. The secretary was instructed to write the city council asking them to further consider the association's request for a bonus of $1000. It was decided to offer a purse of $100 for an Indian band competition. Mr. Cowley of View street, was appointed judge of flowers. Mrs. Mason and Messrs. Jos. Devlin and J. H. Todd judges of dairy produce,

Police Court Pencillings.

Carry Reid and Jessie Cook, alleged street walkers, were arrested on Government street last night by Officer Smith. Magistrate McCrae discharged them. Officer Smith when arresting the women did not ask them what they were doing.

John Browning asked at the "lock-up" for a night's lodging. Officer Condon testified, saying that Browning was intoxicated. Browning asked to be "run in." Condon locked him up. Browning was charged in the police court with vagrancy. Prisoner was remanded till September 15th.

The Stowaway.

That sterling English melo-drama, "The Stowaway," will be the attraction at Victoria Theatre two nights this week, 15th and 16th. This play is now in its sixth season, and has as yet shown no signs of diminishing in popularity. This season it will be entirely replenished with new and gorgeous scenery and effects, making it practically an old favorite in a new dress. Manager Davis has always observed one principle in the production of "The Stowaway", and that is, that no play can be successfully presented without the players; the result of which is, that he has always produced this piece with a great company. This season the cast includes several of the members of the original company.

Will Toot When Necessary.

A determined effort is being made to choke off that terrible calliope-like whistle on Spratt's Ark. It seems that motherhood and sisterhood in the neighborhood of the outer wharf grew tired of being startled by its heart-rendering shrieks, and sent a petition, signed only by females it is said, to the authorities. The master of the ark was immediately notified that the whistle must be stopped or it would be forcibly removed at his expense under the Nuisance Act of 1886. He says that he proposes to keep on tooting the whistle whenever necessary. Some think the notice explaining the petition and issuing the order is a hoax. An unsuccessful attempt to prevent the steamer from whistling in Vancouver was made some time ago, but it is voted by the vast majority of the public an intolerable nuisance.

PACIFIC COAST FIRE CHIEFS.

A Week Spent at Portland Discussing the Best Means of Fighting Fires.

Chief Deasy Gets in a Few Good Words for Victoria in an Interview.

Chief Tom Deasy of the fire department returned last evening from Portland, where he has been attending the annual convention of Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs. He left here a week ago Saturday, and arrived at Portland on Monday. There were fifty-one chiefs present at the convention. On Tuesday morning they got down to business. The topics discussed were: "Fires, Their Causes and Prevention," by Chief Deasy. "Rules and Regulations Governing Fire Depaatments," Chief Lillas; "Chemical Engines," Chief Kellogg; "Extension Trucks and Their Value at Fires," Chief Morgan; "Electricity and its use in Fire Departments," Supt. Coffey of Portland; "Steam Fire Engines," B. S. Worsley. The question of the use of fire boats and other fire apparatus was also discussed.

The B. C. delegates succeeded in having the name of the association changed from the "National Association of Western Fire Chiefs of America" to the "Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs."

The following officers were elected: President, Chief H. M. Lillas, of Tacoma; first vice-president, Chief Deasy, of Victoria; Chief Ben Worsley, of Astoria, secretary; and Chief G. Kellogg, of Seattle, treasurer. The next meeting will be held in San Francisco September 1, 1893.

All the business of the convention was taken down by a stenographer, and will be published in book form.

The visiting chiefs were splendidly entertained. The fire commissioners and aldermen of Portland drove them around the city and chartered special trains and steamers to take them to points of interest.

In an interview with a Post-Intelligencer reporter Chief Deasy got in a few good words for Victoria. He said:—

"We organized the National Association of Western Fire Chiefs at a tournament in Victoria last year with eight or ten members We have since notified all the fire chiefs on the Coast, and had 51 members present when we met at Portland on the 6th. We were well entertained, being taken on a steamer to Multnomah falls last Friday and banqueted by the citizens that evening. I went to a fire at Portland and came away convinced that Seattle and Tacoma have better fire departments than either Portland or San Francisco. Those cities still have "call" firemen, so that some of the men may be out of the sound of the bell when it gives an alarm. A call department is not the proper thing for a city of over 20,000 people. I do not mean to cast any reflections on our call men at Victoria, but the point I wish to make is that there is no prospect of our getting paid departments at smaller cities while these larger cities set such an unprogressive example. Victoria is picking up and we expect to have a lively spring. The smallpox scare has stirred the people up. The disease has gone, but precautions are still being taken; the Dominion Government has a steamer there with all appliances for fumigating. A number of new buildings are being erected and improvements are being made at the outer wharf where the ocean steamers land. We also expect soon to have direct railroad connection with the mainland. The Canada Western has deposited bonds to build across Seymour Narrows and a local company is to build from Victoria to Saanich and thence run a ferry to the mainland. It will not be long before a ferry will be established to Port Angeles from Sooke, only a distance of 10 miles."

FAULTY CHARTS.

The U. S. S. Gedney Staff Discover Errors in the Old Charts of the Straits.

Lieut. Lucien Flynne, U. S. N., in charge of the United States survey boat Gedney, says that the party have finished the triangulation survey for Dungeness station. Discovery Island, Beachy Head and Pillow Point will be the next points of observation. Lieut. Flynne says that although the party are not looking for defects, they have found that the old chart of 1854 is faulty in many particulars. Near Pisht River the old chart records a depth of seven fathoms. There exists only 3½ fathoms. This will not cause any serious difficulty, as the sand land is out of the usual channel of deep draught vessels. In the next chart Beachy Bay will be recorded as good anchorage for light craft. The old chart remarks it "not recommended."

Ross Bay Garbage Wharf.

Alderman W. D. McKillican has a notice of motion on the bulletin board at the city hall that is a step towards the settlement of the question of how to dispose of the garbage. At the next regular meeting of the council he will move "that the wharf erected at Ross Bay by the city council of 1890 for sanitary purposes be repaired as soon as possible for use for the disposal of garbage, etc., and that tenders be called for the work."

The licensing court will meet tomorrow morning at 10:30, in the police court room at the City Hall. There are numerous applications to be dealt with.

Whiskey on the Reserve.

In the Provincial Police Court this afternoon a white man was fined $50 and $4.50 costs, or in default one month in the common jail, for having a bottle of whiskey in his possession while over the Indian reserve. He did not have the money and consequently went to jail.

Supposed to be the Penelope.

A sealing schooner, supposed to be the Penelope, is outside, and will be in the harbor late this afternoon. From now on a string of vessels may be looked for every few days. Nearly all of the schooners, or at least a number of them, have been warned, and they will leave the locality where seizure is liable to happen at any time.

Vancouver Island Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Vancouver Island held its first meeting at the First Presbyterian Church this afternoon. The object of the meeting was to organize. Rev. P. McF. Macleod was elected moderator; Rev. D. McCrae, clerk; and Rev. D. A. Macrae treasurer. There were about 10 members present, who discussed the best means of conducting the work of the ministry.

Death of Mas. J. D. Stevens.

Mrs. Stevens, wife of Mr. James D. Stevens, of 106 Fisgard street, died suddenly to-day after only a week's illness, of paralysis of the brain. The deceased was a remarkably healthy woman, 57 years of age, and her death was quite unexpected. She was a native of Wallace Bay, Cumberland Co., Nova Scotia, and came to Victoria with her husband, who survives her, about six years ago. Mr. Allan Stevens, of the People's Market, Johnston street, and W. A. Stevens are sons of the deceased lady, whose circle of friends was a very large one.

Hard to Keep Clean.

The Board of Aldermen will meet this evening to consider the sanitary condition of the city. It is possible that inspectors will be appointed to look after different parts of the city and see that their beats are kept clean, not only the streets, but the yards of the residents. Sanitary Officer Bailey has been doing all in his power in this direction, but the job is too big a one for one man. He had Chinatown thoroughly cleaned last Thursday, but when he paid another visit to the same locality this morning the alleys were as bad as ever. No sooner had the Chinamen cleaned their places up than they continued to throw all kinds of dirt around. The sanitary officer says the only way to keep the place clean is to have a man to look after it every day and see that dirt is not scattered all over the place.

COUNTERMANDED THE TRIP.

The Schooner Libbie Will Not Visit the Argentina Seal Rookeries this Year.

A semi-sealing and semi-exploring cruise, which would have proved of remarkable interest to everybody interested in the business, planned for the schooner Libbie, Capt. Hackett, was abandoned this morning. The schooner was ready for sea, and the tug was spoken for 10 this morning, but at the eleventh hour it was given up. It was proposed to send the schooner to the South American sealing grounds along the coast of the Argentine Republic. When the Libbie came around the Horn from Nova Scotia, bound for Victoria, she saw thousands upon thousands of seals. She had a poor season, and it was always on the captain's mind to examine closely the southern grounds. His brother, Capt. William Hackett, owns the schooner, and between them it was arranged.

But the plans are all over now. There are rookeries on the coast, but they are guarded by the government ships, and it is likely that schooners working off shore would be seized also. The government permits any vessel to catch seals that will agree to bring them to Buenos Ayres and pay a royalty on each of them.

Agitation in the line of full investigation of the haunts of the seals would be appreciated here. The question, "Where do the seals come from on their way north in the spring when they strike the Pacific coast at Cape Mendicino?" is like the question, "Where do the geese go in their flight north?" Nobody knows, and it is probably just as well for the seal. Some say that they have a great circular course around the Pacific, but where do they stop besides at the Pribyloff, St. Paul, Copper and other northern islands?

Somebody will know some day and if he be alone and has the means at hand he will make a killing that will satisfy him or anybody else.

Seal skins will always be fashionable. They are a synonym of diamonds, and wine might be added. To the recommendation of fashion may be added that of durability, and that of the fact that there is no substitute for them.

LIFE IN THE ANTIPODES.

A Leading New Zealander Discourses Pleasantly on the Affairs of that Colony.

It is a Land of Promise Blessed With Fine Political and Educational Advantages.

Mr. E. B. Cargill, of Dunedin, New Zealand, is staying at the Hotel Victoria. Mr. Cargill is a member of the New Zealand University, and a director of the Union Steamship Company, of New Zealand. He is a typical Englishman of somewhat pronounced Liberal principles. And his 35 years' residence in New Zealand entitles him to speak with authority upon New Zealand affairs.

"You want to know something about our country?" Mr. Cargill motioned the newspaper man to a seat. "I am at your service. I suppose I had better begin upon the topic of politics. The present New Zealand administration, is headed by Hon. Mr. Ballance, as premier. It is what may be called the popular party. Its platform is the abolition of the present property tax which takes in all property, including land, with an exemption of $2500. It is proposed to substitute an income tax and a land tax. The land tax to be assessed upon the unimproved value of lands. This tax is to be progressive beyond certain limits. To create an increased rate of taxation upon large estates. This legislation also proposes the taxation of all improvements with an exemption of $3000. The avowed object is to favor farmers and small landowners, and subject the larger land holders to increased taxation. The present government also contemplates the remodelling of the legislation of public lands. As things are at present land may be acquired by absolute purchase of freehold. Upon the principle of deferred payments, or what is called perpetual lease. That is, long leases renewable, in perpetuity. The general tendency of the new legislation is in the direction of the restriction of individual holdings, and the prevention of the formation of large estates. Sir Robert Stout is at the head of a large following, which favor the abolition of freehold. The party in power may be said to be pledged to protection. But the line of demarcation between protection and free trade is not finely drawn. Both the free traders and the protectionists stick to the protective tariff.

The free traders allege that the tariff is simply a small source of revenue, while the protectionists affirm it to be necessary for the maintenance of home industries.

Appointments for seven years of members of the Upper House, instead of for life, has been the law for the past few years.

"What was the cause of the exodus from New Zealand?"

"The labor strikes. They not only hurt the capitalists, but the working man was injured by them. Times are growing better, the New Zealanders who emigrated to Sydney and Melbourne are now returning. Trade is improving, and there promises to be an era of prosperity."

"Have you yet decided upon woman suffrage?"

"We have had a lively time upon that question. Last session it was passed by the Lower House, only to be thrown out by the Upper House. The same legislation will again be introduced. And it is said that the Upper House have changed their views, and that the bill will become law."

"Your educational system?"

"Our educational system is of the best. If there is one thing that I am deeply interested in it is education. I am happy to say that New Zealand has made great progress in this direction. We have a first-class system of primary schools. The work commenced in the primary schools is well continued in the grammar or secondary schools. The various colleges are affiliated with the New Zealand University, an examining, not a teaching, body. Young women have ranked high in the graduating classes. And their numbers are increasing. Our education is non-sectarian. There is a movement for the re-introduction of the Bible into the schools. The Roman Catholics have their separate schools. They receive no state or county aid. The schools are free, and education is compulsory. The president of the university is Sir James Heeker, M.D., one of the early explorers of British Columbia.

"Of our trade I need only tell you that we possess one of the finest climates in the world. New Zealand exports largely of wheat, cats, barley, wool and preserved meats."

"What do the New Zealanders think of Imperial Federation?"

"They don't think anything about it," was the quick reply. "I do not believe in the drinking in of fine words. There are some people who are always agitating wonderful proposals."

"Of the federation of the Australian colonies, then?"

"Well, that may come. The custom barriers are a great difficulty among the Australian colonies. If the colonies were left alone to work out their own destiny, I think that the result would be better, both for the colonies and the mother country."

"What is your opinion of the Pacific coast?"

"I am confident that the great trade route of the world is through Canadian territory. And I think that the early establishment of a line of steamers between Australia and British Columbia will bring about this desired result. The Suez canal and Cape Horn are routes of bygone days. I do not mind telling you that I am here with a view of looking into the question of a steamship service to the Australian colonies. I cannot say more at present. I expect to see Superintendent Abbott in Vancouver, where I go in a few days.

M'MURDO GOLD MINES.

A Mining Expert Writes of an Important Part of East Kootenay.

Mr. Jos. Lainson-Wills, M.E., F.C.S., of Ottawa, contributes to the Golden Era an interesting article on the McMurdo gold district, situated on the Middle Fork of the Spillimachene river, East Kootenay. He writes:—The portion of this mineral belt here referred to comprises the claims known as the "Favorite," "Stand-by," "International," and "Planet," etc., and extends from the south side of the creek on the glacial morain with an altitude of some 6000 feet, to the elevations on the north side of the creek attaining over 8000 feet altitude. The prevailing rocks are chloritic slates and talcose schists whose fissile structure is more or less vertical with a pretty regular strike of east and west astronomical; the magnetic variation here being 24 degrees 35 minutes east. These schists vary from a five grain to a quartzose character, when the local prospectors term them "granite," but no true granite was observed in the district. These rocks invariably contain cubical pyrites regularly disseminated through their mass in the plane of their deposition, and the pyrites being as a rule more or less, or sometimes completely ozidised, they then present a reddish and banded appearance. The immense morains of the adjacent glaciers are chiefly composed of the debris of similar slates and schists, shewing that these same rocks have an extension over the entire field of action of the same glaciers.

The more strongly developed gold bearin veins attain a width of from four to five feet and more, and are exposed by outcroppings over about a mile in a N.N.E. bearing, where they are then hidden in the glaciers and eternal snow line. At the localities where the richer pannings for gold were obtained, the veins were apparently joined by cross stringers whose strike more closely approached the bearing of the fissile structure of the country rock, which was then much contorted and disturbed. The quartz of these veins at surface presents a honeycombed and rusted appearance, and the gold was found to be more abundant by panning the darker irony product, than in the case of the lighter colored ochreous matter. The auriferous quartz often carries a considerable quantity of argentiferous galena, the other associated minerals observed are, pyrites, mis-pickel, chalcopyrite, blende and stibuite. The enclosing rocks are often seen to become more decidedly talcy in contact with the mineral vein, and pure talc was observed in some instances. These ores are thus seen to be highly refractory and although rich shows may now be obtained in the pan or batea from the oxidised matter of the surface "cap," suitable methods of treatment for extraction of the gold will be required to obtain an economic result from the products to be mined in the future.

The veins are as a rule in close contact with the country rock without "flukan."

There are several veins of galena in quartz which have a prevailing N.W. S.E. strike, present themselves as cross courses to the main gold bearing ledges; they yield concentration products but are strongly developed at some points examined, attaining from one to two feet in width and underlying S.W. The galena is accompanied by sulphurets of antimony, copper and zinc. An average sample of galena prepared from all the ledges examined including the galena obtained from the above mentioned gold veins, gave 31 oz. per ton of silver to 60 per cent. metallic lead, (say 42 oz. to a concentrated product of 80.84 per cent. lead), but only a trace of gold was found by assay, indicating that the gold of this region is carried in the pyritic constituents of the ledges and not by the galena.

I also visited the "Bobbie Burns," about two miles northeast of the "Chief of the Selkirks," where J. Asquith, Esq., has started a five-stamp Fraser & Chalmers amalgamation mill on the 18th of August last, and I have to thank this gentleman for the hospitality of his camp, and the courtesy extended for the inspection of his property and working. The rocks are here seen to possess the same prevailing fissile structure composition and bearing as those above mentioned, but the openings on the mineral veins so far exposed, do not exhibit the presence of galena, but clean pyrites and mis-pickel in quartz. The sulphurets are naturally much decomposed on the back or cap of the ledges, and rich shows of gold are obtained from oxidized and rusty debris, while free gold is frequently observed in the cavities of the honeycomb quartz. The indications for a lasting supply of workable ore are beyond doubt, and "Robbie Burns" has evidently come to stay, for although the first amalgamation results have not been satisfactory, the explanation is not far to look for, and the necessary corrections in the method of milling will doubtless be made. With some 30 miles of wagon road to be constructed replacing the present pack trail, and the utilization of nature's provision of water power by its economic transmission to the locality of requirement, cheap wire rope transport, improved gold extracting methods, etc., in short skilled management, backed by bona fide investors (and not speculators), the McMurdo gold mining district will certainly attain a lasting success.

As Winter Approaches They Attempt the Passage of the Quesnelle in a Canoe.

Nothing to Eat but Boiled Crow, Dog Roses and a Pinch of Flour Amid Snow and Ice.

Here we found ourselves in Nass Glee, an Indian village, and a great rendezvous for the Indians in the fishing season. The climate is beautiful, and blankets were not too plentiful. Indians from the other camps, Kiss-Pi-Jack's and others, came here to fish, gamble and plunder all they could. I got into the chief's house and gave them a little tobacco and red paint; I had two yeast powder boxes of red paint and there was a great scramble for it. The women were mostly dressed or covered with mountain goat or sheep skins. We were told to sit on high boxes to dine and there was a good supply put before us; sometimes Bill sat next to me as also did Frank. Bill and I took off our hats before we commenced to eat. When Frank took off his cap the women were astonished at seeing and cried, "Oh, oh! They would get behind him and make a grab for his hair and try and smooth it over. We had a very hard time getting away from this camp. We stayed at [illegible] and I made a ba[illegible] to take us to the Grand Fort (Fort St. James, at the foot of Stewart lake), the backsheesh being a blanket. We got all ready to go, when the Indian seemed all at once to back out. The Indians around Stewart's lake talk French, and Frank, being from the South, is at home in that language. I got him to talk to the Indian; Frank found the Siwash wanted to get his pay now, as Mr. Ogden, at the fort, might find fault with us for paying the Indian so much. I went to my pack, picked up my red blankets, tore them in twain, gave the Indian one half, and that made his tum tum all right; then we were all as happy as if we had had gold sacks in the canoe.

FORTUNE SMILES AGAIN.

It is wonderful the change that can be wrought by a little prosperity. When we were about half way down the lake I cooked about two pounds of beans that I had carried all the way from Queen Charlotte Islands, carefully tied up in a rag, in case someone should give out on the way.

At Fort St. James, Mr. Ogden received me very kindly and placed a sleeping room at my disposal. I also wrote here a report of my trip. Bill and Frank had poor quarters. We got some bear meat to eat, and it was very acceptable, also a little bread. The country around Fort St. James looks very barren and often times they have had hard work to keep from starving. The salmon do not come up Stewart's river regularly, so they are not to be depended upon as a food supply. They were not running in the lake when I was there, and had not been for a number of years. I was told that an old Indian had prophesied that the salmon would cease to come up Stewart's river, and that a strange white man would come into the Indians' country and many of them would be killed. It seems the advent of the white man was foretold long ago by the Indian sachems. The Indians have had to pay a high price for to keep them from starving. They will not eat mink or marten, but they will eat dogs with avidity.

I received excellent treatment at Fort St. James and remained there eight or ten days until the bateau was ready to go down to Fort Alexander with furs. They killed a poor-looking, little, half-starved horse to supply the boat's crew with something to eat on the way down. I came in for a share of it and thought it very good. HUNTING DOWN A PIRATE

(Copyright, 1899, by C. B. Lewis.)

IN the year 1870 a pirate named Whang-Ha made his appearance in the China Sea. He was officially known as an opium smuggler, but that was a thin disguise. Instead of buying, running and selling the drug, as many other men did, both Chinese and foreigners, he lay in wait for opium crafts and robbed them of cargo or specie. When business in that line was dull he turned his attention to merchant vessels. He was stepping high and carrying things with a rough hand when he put his foot in it. That is, he tackled a private yacht belonging to an English gentleman named Rossiter. The yacht, with a party of about twenty people on board, and carrying a crew of thirty men, had been making a tour of the China Sea, and one night, while lying at anchor at the Paracel Islands, she was captured by three junks. There was little or no fighting. When Whang-Ha found that she was English he did not carry out his intention to murder every soul, but did rob crew and passengers and take from the craft everything he wanted. He also disabled her machinery so that it was four days before she could weigh anchor.

As soon as the yacht got under way she proceeded to Hongkong and laid the matter before the British consul. He didn't lose an hour in raising a row about it. There was more or less official correspondence, and the governor of the province finally agreed to pay Mr. Rossiter the sum of $20,000 as damages, and also gave him authority to wipe Whang-Ha off the face of the sea. The governor at Hongkong couldn't order out a warship, but he aided M. Rossiter in finding, chartering and equipping a brig, and gave him written orders to board, sink and destroy any craft which might even be suspicious. The name of the brig was the Dunbar, and she was owned in Liverpool. Four eighteen-pounders were mounted on her decks, an outfit of small arms laid in, and for a crew she picked up forty men of various nationalities, but mostly English and Americans. She was commanded by Capt. Wharton, a belligerent Englishman, and of the fourteen Americans in the crew five of us had deserted from the Boston ship Union. No secret was made of the expedition, and Whang-Ha was doubtless posted long before we sailed. There were fears that he would hide among the islands or go out of the pirate business, but he was a Chinaman who wouldn't take a bluff, and instead of hiding he added another junk to his fleet. This gave him four, with about 200 men at his back, and there was no doubt he would fight if encountered. The brig had steam as an auxiliary, with a smokestack which could be lowered on deck and a propellor which could be lifted up when not in use, and we calculated we had a big advantage over the clumsy junks.

Our first move was to drop down to a quiet anchorage and drill the men at the great guns. As we had ten men who had served in various navies we got along very smartly, and at the end of a week the anchor was raised and we proceeded on a cruise. We ran down to the Paracel Islands and were hunting among them for four or five days, but no news was obtainable. Nearly all the islands were inhabited, but the people either couldn't or wouldn't give information. In stretching across to Manila we encountered a trading junk which seemed to stand in fear of us, and she was chased and brought to. Among our crew was one from the yacht, who had been brought along to identify Whang Ha and his officers in case we found them. Among the crew of the trading junk he thought he detected a fellow who had been very forward in the work of plundering the yacht. It was vigorously denied that he was the man, but when put under pressure he owned up to it, and also gave us valuable information regarding the pirate.

Whang-Ha had gone around into the Sulu Sea, and was dodging among the islands to the south. The junk and the men were bound to Honkgong to pick up information about us. A week later they were to be met by Whang-Ha and his fleet off the island of Mindoro. We had no need to go hunting for the old pirate. Give him a few days and he would come to us. The crew of the trader was taken off and the craft sent to the bottom of the sea, and then we bore up for the island and found a safe and quiet anchorage and had nothing to do but wait. For six days the crew were daily exercised at the guns and made ready for what was to come. Just at dark one day we got news that Whang-Ha's fleet was beating up towards us. He had his four junks and his 200 men. He knew nothing of our presence, but was making for the appointed rendezvous in order to hear from the junk. Before 10 o'clock at night the four junks were lying at anchor in a bay only two miles to the south of us. We had few preparations to make, and notwithstanding the excitement, I think most of the men slept soundly that night. We were astir at daybreak and had breakfast and then the captain made us a speech. No quarter was to be asked or granted. He intended to run around into the bay and attack the junks as they lay at anchor, and like Nelson and other great heroes, he expected every man to do his duty. With daybreak came a soft land breeze. We could not have worked out and maneuvered under it, but we had steam to do it with, and the battle was half way won before a shot was fired. The fellows had no suspicion of our presence until we were off the mouth of the bay and bearing down on them at full speed. The bay was about two miles deep and a mile across, and the junks were anchored about a mile from its mouth. As the tide was running in, they were bows on to us, with a space of about 200 feet between them. There was yelling and confusion as they caught sight of us. As they were bows on they could not use a single gun, and it did not take them two minutes to realize that they were in a box. With never a cheer from a man, but with every man at his post, and every gun loaded with a stand of grape on top of solit shot, we swept broadside as we passed. Their decks were crowded with men, and a few fired at us with muskets, but the lightly-built junks were simply blown out of the water by the contents of the big guns. I was one of the small armed men and stationed on the port quarter. I saw the full effect of the port broadside, and it was something to be remembered. The junk flew into a cloud of splinters, and what was left of the hull below the water line went out of sight like a stone. It was the same with the junk on the starboard side.

The brig ran for half a mile and then turned. During this time the junks were making every effort to get under way. Cables were cut and sails spread to the light air, and while one made for the shore, the other drifted out to sea. As we began overhauling the one which hoped to beach herself, the fifty or more pirates on her decks began yelling in defiance and despair. As they saw that we would pass them to port they got out four big oars, hoping to run us aboard, but they were too late. The brig ran down so close that you could have tossed your cap aboard, and the junk was given the starboard broadside. Fragments of her were scattered for a quarter of a mile around. The last junk was overhauled at the mouth of the bay. It was suspected that she was the pirate flagship and that Whang-Ha was aboard of her. I think Capt. Wharton's idea was to capture her and carry the men to Honkgong to be dealt with by the governor. We ranged up alongside and demaded a surrender, but that was the last thing to be thought of. The junk had four small cannon, and she began peppering away at us with these, and her crew cheered and yelled as if certain of a speedy victory. The first few shots flew high, but after a few minutes a ball came aboard which killed one man and wounded two others. "Put solid shot into her hull and sink her!" was the order, and ten minutes later the junk filled and went down.

We had two boats ready to lower and they were soon picking up the survivors. Of the forty-five or fifty men we saved eleven. Among the captured was Whang-Ha, and he fought like a demon against being pulled into the boat. He was one of the most evil-looking men you could imagine. He was a giant in size, but bow-legged and lop-shouldered. His naturally homely face was badly pock-marked and covered with scars, and all his teeth were gone except three yellow fangs in front. He was sulky and defiant when brought aboard, and he was placed in double irons to meditate. As to the others, who were all sulky enough and ready to take any chances, they were brought up one by one and questioned as to the loot taken from the yacht. One was selected for "pressure," and after the soles of his feet had been blistered he was ready to talk. He said the loot was buried on one of the Paracel Islands and he offered to guide the captain to the spot. Then Whang-Ha was taken to the cabin and the same tests applied, but he refused to open his lips. He would have let them roast him alive first. When it was found out that he was obstinate, he was given his choice between hanging at the yard arm or being taken to Hongkong. He preferred to be hung as did all the others when questioned and that afternoon they were swung off in succession. The last man of Whang-Ha's fleet was the coward who had confessed. He had told the truth about the loot. We found it buried on an island, and he was turned at liberty as a reward.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

The Lacrosse Team Practising Hard for Their Encounters With the Mainland Clubs.

Interesting Notes of the Turf—Charley Mitchell and Corbett May Come Together.

THE RING.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 12.—Over 100 persons greeted Corbett when the train at noon. Workingmen rushed from shops around the station, and when the crowd caught sight of the streamer "The Champion of the World" on Corbett's car they cheer like mad. Corbett was then led upon the platform by Manager Brady and introduced amid great cheering.

CORBETT'S OFFER TO SULLIVAN.

NEW YORK, Sept 10.—Sullivan has changed his mind about the offer made to him by champion Corbett, when he told the World reporter at Cleveland on Saturday that he did not think it best to share with Corbett. John spoke hastily at all times since the fight, but he has praised his conqueror increasingly. He arrived at the conclusion yesterday that it would be quite out of place for him to decline the manly provision by the new champion. "I shall send Mr. Corbett a letter to-morrow," said he last evening, "in which I shall express my gratitude for his thoughtfulness. I will box with him at Madison Square Garden next Saturday night and then tell my friends what I think of the young American who defeated John L. Sullivan; he has my best wishes for success, and I only hope he will hold the title as long as I did.

MITCHELL'S CHALLENGE TO CORBETT.

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Sept. 12.—The champion resumed his trip to New York, in his special car, which was attached to the limited express at Atlanta as usual. An immense concourse was at the depot to cheer him on his way. Corbett was somewhat indifferent whether the train started. He had just finished reading Charles Mitchell's challenge. "I don't think that man wants to fight," he said, "we were matched to fight only a few months ago, and he declined to meet me. He gave no excuse, and it was thought, quite naturally, that he was afraid of me. I did not intend fighting again for a year at least, but I have made up my mind to make Mitchell show in a more practical way than mere idle words whether he means what he says or not.

MITCHELL MAY HAVE A TRY.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 12.—A close friend of President Noel of the Olympic Club, New Orleans, relates this conversation with him: "With Jackson out of the question who will be the next man to meet Corbett?"

"If money will bring about a meeting Charley Mitchell will be Corbett's next man; a meeting with Jackson is next to impossible. But I would give five years of my life and several thousand dollars to see Corbett punch Mitchell."

"Do you think it can be arranged?"

"I don't see why not. Mitchell has issued his challenge, and I know Corbett does not fear him."

"Would you offer a good purse for such a meeting?"

"Well, I should say we would. The Olympic club will offer a $25,000 purse to begin with and will stretch a few thousands if necessary. In fact if the men consent to a meeting, the club will see that a few thousands do not stand in the way."

"Have any overtures been made?"

"Not yet. Corbett's theatrical season is now on, and I don't think he will care to talk business until that ends. When it does though, we will see what can be done about it." "Bob" Fitzsimmons, who used to think he could whip Corbett, has changed his mind, for he is credited with saying after the fight: "I don't want any of Jim's game; I am satisfied to be champion middleweight."

THE QUADRA RETURNS.

A Trip North to Alert Bay, Carrying Minister Bowell and General Herbert.

The Dominion steamer Quadra, Captain Walbran, which left here last Thursday with the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, General Herbert and party, returned to Victoria this afternoon. After landing stores at Entrance Island lighthouse, she proceeded to Nanaimo, making a short stay there to enable the Minister of Militia and General Herbert to land. From Nanaimo a call was made at Yellow Island lighthouse and stores landed, after which the Quadra went as far northward as Alert Bay and Knight Inlet. Hon. Mr. Bowell and party were landed at Vancouver yesterday, and will proceed east without delay. The weather, with the exception of an hour's fog near Alert Bay, was all that could be desired, the mountain scenery being seen in all its splendor. Yesterday between the Trail Islands and the mainland a deer was seen swimming in the sea, the steamer was immediately stopped, a boat manned, and after a short and sharp chase the animal captured; it is now on the Quadra. From Vancouver, a dense fog was experienced in the Gulf of Georgia, and hazy weather to port.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR:—The autocratic manner in which the education department has been managed or mismanaged has been so often and so clearly exposed that it is a wonder that the electors of this province should tamely submit to it. However, when it comes home to them as it is now doing in Comox, they are ready to stand up for their rights and insist upon getting them too. The department refuses to grant to the School Trustees of South Comox a temporary certificate in favor of the teacher of their choice. They think that the legislature made this provision in the School Act for the benefit of the public schools, and to meet such a case as theirs and a parliamentary committee has so decided. The department states practically that it and not the trustees is to say when temporary certificates are to be granted. If that be so, then the people's representatives passed this clause for the special benefit of the department, viz: So that it can give certificates to its pets. Having selected their teacher and the department having failed to give them a satisfactory reason why it granted a temporary to the Victoria trustees last January, and refuses one to them now, and no other suitable candidate having applied, they intend to hold the fort. In the meantime they have the satisfaction of knowing that the children whose interests they are guarding, are being educated by the teacher of their choice notwithstanding the obstinacy of the department. So far there has been neither injunction nor Order-in-Council but merely rumors of war. COMOX.
